Postgraduate options in Nutrition

Recommended Nutrition Postgraduate Courses
(Prerequisites may be required for entry)

MEDSCI 709 Nutrition in Health and Disease
MEDSCI 710 Nutrition Mechanisms
MEDSCI 711 Clinical Nutrition
MEDSCI 712 Critical Evaluation of Nutritional Therapies
POPHLTH 765 Nutrition Interventions in Public Health

Certificate of Proficiency (COP)
15pts per course
Selection of individual courses for bridging or interest

Postgraduate Certificate (PGCert)
1 semester full time study, 60pts
PG Cert Health Sciences
PG Cert Sciences

Postgraduate Diploma (PGDip)
1 year full time study, 120pts
PGDip Health Science*
PGDip Science
PGDip Bioscience Enterprises

Masters Degree
2 years full time study, 240pts
Masters of Health Science in Nutrition and Dietetics **
Master of Health Sciences*
Master of Science
Master of Public Health*

Doctorate (PhD)*

Bachelors Degree
3 years full time study, 360 points
BSc Food Science and Nutrition*
BSc Biomedical Science
Bachelor of Health Science

* In combination with work experience these qualification could be used for registration as a Nutritionist (See NZ Nutrition Society for regulations)

The Masters of Health Science in Nutrition and Dietetics provides the specialised training required to enable graduates to seek registration with the New Zealand Dietitians Board in order to practise as a Dietitian in New Zealand. Conditions may apply (See New Zealand Dietitians Board for the full terms and conditions)

For more information on the Postgraduate Certificate, Diploma and Master of Health Sciences:

For more information on postgraduate nutrition courses:

For more information on the MHSc in Nutrition and Dietetics:
www.fmhs.auckland.ac.nz/nutrition-dietetics

Email: dietetics@auckland.ac.nz

For a list of current Masters and PhD project topics at the Faculty of Medical and Health Sciences mhsfaculty.auckland.ac.nz/pgprojects/projects.html