Obstetric Anal Sphincter Injury Workshop

28 September 2017

Convened by:
Louise Tomlinson
Obstetrician and Gynaecologist, Middlemore Hospital

Obstetric anal sphincter disruption is a major cause of anal incontinence. There is compelling evidence that clinicians are inadequately trained to recognise and repair the anal sphincter.

This workshop is essential for all doctors practising obstetrics and repairing perineal tears.

Topics include:

- Applied anatomy.
- Physiology & investigations.
- Evidence based practice.
- Repair techniques & video demonstrations.
- Practical Lab with hands on experience.

The course is limited to 10 participants on a “first come first serve” basis. NZ Trainees have priority.

Venue:
Advanced Clinical Skills Centre
Gate 3, 98 Mountain Road,
Epsom, Auckland 1023
