Centre for Medical and Health Sciences Education

Teaching and Learning in the Clinical Setting: Two-day Short Course

Monday 25 February & Tuesday 26 February 2019

This interactive 2-day short course is designed for everyday clinical educators working across a variety of disciplines. Composed of eight core topics, it covers the fundamental knowledge and applied skills to provide a practical, “how to” guide for teaching and learning in the clinical environment.

Day 1
How to plan a tutorial
How to use feedback for learning
How to examine in an OSCE
How to assess a mini-CEX

Day 2
How to facilitate a small group
How to address professional lapses
How to supervise clinical students
How to teach in the clinical workplace

Teaching Faculty
Prof Jennifer Weller, A/P Marcus Henning, A/P Craig Webster,
Dr Andrea Thompson, Dr Yan Chen, Dr Mataroria Lyndon, Dr Keerthi Kumar
Dr Gary Cheung, Dr Jo Egan, Dr Christopher Mysko

Venue
Building 501 – Rm 110
Grafton Campus, Park Road
Grafton, Auckland

Cost
Registration $200 (incl GST) for one day or $350 (incl GST) for both days*
Morning Tea, Lunch and Afternoon Tea provided

Please send your name, current position, and contact details to Theresa Huang (theresa.huang@auckland.ac.nz) to register your interest for this course.

* Subsidies are available from the School of Medicine for FMHS staff and DHB supervisors who teach to the medical programme.